

United Nations International Day of Peace

September 2014

Free activities surrounding the United Nations International Day of Peace September 21st:

1. A Peace Festival at Eastown's Annual Street Fair on Saturday, Sept. 13, 9-9 p.m. where families can merge justice and fun, learn and practice peaceful, win-win activities.
2. An Interfaith Peace Service on Sunday, Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m. at the Dominican Chapel at Marywood (East Fulton and Lakeside). This year representatives of different faiths will address violence around the world, their experiences with violence, and how their faith and understanding help them move toward peace and forgiveness.
3. A Week of Peace Education by proclamation from the Grand Rapids Public Schools, Sept. 15-19 (its 30th consecutive year) in the public schools with a program guide from the UN IDP website containing age-appropriate activities for observing peace and celebrating people of different cultures.

The United Nations International Day of Peace was proclaimed by Mayor George Heartwell of Grand Rapids, Mich. to "commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples." The Institute for Global Education has planned several important community events to celebrate and observe peace here in Grand Rapids in connection with this international day of observances around the world.

Local sponsors include the Institute for Global Education, a peace and justice organization that has been active in programming and educating about peace since its inception in 1981.

www.instituteforglobaleducation.org • (616) 454-1642 • www.internationaldayofpeace.org

United Nations International Day of Peace

September 2014

Free activities surrounding the United Nations International Day of Peace September 21st:

1. A Peace Festival at Eastown's Annual Street Fair on Saturday, Sept. 13, 9-9 p.m. where families can merge justice and fun, learn and practice peaceful, win-win activities.
2. An Interfaith Peace Service on Sunday, Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m. at the Dominican Chapel at Marywood (East Fulton and Lakeside). This year representatives of different faiths will address violence around the world, their experiences with violence, and how their faith and understanding help them move toward peace and forgiveness.
3. A Week of Peace Education by proclamation from the Grand Rapids Public Schools, Sept. 15-19 (its 30th consecutive year) in the public schools with a program guide from the UN IDP website containing age-appropriate activities for observing peace and celebrating people of different cultures.

The United Nations International Day of Peace was proclaimed by Mayor George Heartwell of Grand Rapids, Mich. to "commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples." The Institute for Global Education has planned several important community events to celebrate and observe peace here in Grand Rapids in connection with this international day of observances around the world.

Local sponsors include the Institute for Global Education, a peace and justice organization that has been active in programming and educating about peace since its inception in 1981.

www.instituteforglobaleducation.org • (616) 454-1642 • www.internationaldayofpeace.org

United Nations International Day of Peace

September 2014

Free activities surrounding the United Nations International Day of Peace September 21st:

1. A Peace Festival at Eastown's Annual Street Fair on Saturday, Sept. 13, 9-9 p.m. where families can merge justice and fun, learn and practice peaceful, win-win activities.
2. An Interfaith Peace Service on Sunday, Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m. at the Dominican Chapel at Marywood (East Fulton and Lakeside). This year representatives of different faiths will address violence around the world, their experiences with violence, and how their faith and understanding help them move toward peace and forgiveness.
3. A Week of Peace Education by proclamation from the Grand Rapids Public Schools, Sept. 15-19 (its 30th consecutive year) in the public schools with a program guide from the UN IDP website containing age-appropriate activities for observing peace and celebrating people of different cultures.

The United Nations International Day of Peace was proclaimed by Mayor George Heartwell of Grand Rapids, Mich. to "commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples." The Institute for Global Education has planned several important community events to celebrate and observe peace here in Grand Rapids in connection with this international day of observances around the world.

Local sponsors include the Institute for Global Education, a peace and justice organization that has been active in programming and educating about peace since its inception in 1981.

www.instituteforglobaleducation.org • (616) 454-1642 • www.internationaldayofpeace.org

United Nations International Day of Peace

September 2014

Free activities surrounding the United Nations International Day of Peace September 21st:

1. A Peace Festival at Eastown's Annual Street Fair on Saturday, Sept. 13, 9-9 p.m. where families can merge justice and fun, learn and practice peaceful, win-win activities.
2. An Interfaith Peace Service on Sunday, Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m. at the Dominican Chapel at Marywood (East Fulton and Lakeside). This year representatives of different faiths will address violence around the world, their experiences with violence, and how their faith and understanding help them move toward peace and forgiveness.
3. A Week of Peace Education by proclamation from the Grand Rapids Public Schools, Sept. 15-19 (its 30th consecutive year) in the public schools with a program guide from the UN IDP website containing age-appropriate activities for observing peace and celebrating people of different cultures.

The United Nations International Day of Peace was proclaimed by Mayor George Heartwell of Grand Rapids, Mich. to "commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples." The Institute for Global Education has planned several important community events to celebrate and observe peace here in Grand Rapids in connection with this international day of observances around the world.

Local sponsors include the Institute for Global Education, a peace and justice organization that has been active in programming and educating about peace since its inception in 1981.

www.instituteforglobaleducation.org • (616) 454-1642 • www.internationaldayofpeace.org

United Nations International Day of Peace

Free activities surrounding the United Nations International Day of Peace September 21st:

1. A Peace Festival at Easttown's Annual Street Fair on Saturday, Sept. 13, 9-9 p.m. where families can merge justice and fun, learn and practice peaceful, win-win activities.

2. An Interfaith Peace Service on Sunday, Sept. 21, 2-3 p.m. at the Dominican Chapel at Marywood (East Fulton and Lakeside). This year representatives of different faiths will address violence around the world, their experiences with violence, and how their faith and understanding help them move toward peace and forgiveness.

3. A Week of Peace Education by proclamation from the Grand Rapids Public Schools, Sept. 15-19 (its 30th consecutive year) in the public schools with a program guide from the UN IDP website containing age-appropriate activities for observing peace and celebrating people of different cultures.

The United Nations International Day of Peace was proclaimed by Mayor George Heartwell of Grand Rapids, Mich. to "commemorate and strengthen the ideals of peace both within and among all nations and peoples." The Institute for Global Education has planned several important community events to celebrate and observe peace here in Grand Rapids in connection with this international day of observances around the world.

Local sponsors include the Institute for Global Education, a peace and justice organization that has been active in programming and educating about peace since its inception in 1981.

www.instituteforglobaleducation.org • (616) 454-1642 • www.internationaldayofpeace.org